WHICH CLASS IS RIGHT FOR MY CHILD?

At Dance Masala, we want children to grow in an environment that is right for them. Here is a quick guide to our classes!

FOR THE DRIVEN, AMBITIOUS DANCER

Joining a crew

If your young person is focused on dance in a serious way, they should join the dance crew that is appropriate for their age-level and experience. Rising Stars are pre-Chingari Crew and is usually for children aged 8-10. Chingari Crew is 10+ and for dancers who are committed to growth in dance. Chingari is mostly a tapori / bollyhop crew. Teens Crew is for teenagers who are committed to growth.

FOR THE DANCER WHO JUST WANTS TO HAVE FUN

Batch Classes

If your young person just wants to let loose and have fun, we recommend trying the Mini Masalas (age 6-7) and Rising Stars (age 8-10) then transitioning into the adult Bollywood classes (Level 1). This will keep it light if your child just wants to groove.

AND WHAT ABOUT DRIVEN DANCERS WHO DON'T LIKE HIP HOP OR TAPORI?

Training in Semi-Classical

If your young person is passionate about glamour and elegance of Bollywood and doesn't relate to the loud moves of Bollyhop or Tapori, then a program in the adult classes is best for them. This could include 2-4 classes a week in Bollywood (L1), Semiclassical (L2-4) and Sunday Kathak. We have seen incredible growth with the young people that join these classes!
